

Continuous Professional Learning & Development

What does this mean?

- School staff continue to learn and develop their skills.
- Training helps staff support children with different needs.
- Learning is practical and improves classroom support.
- When staff feel confident, children benefit.

What can you expect?

- Staff who understand how to support children with SEND
- Ongoing training linked to the needs of the school
- SEND training for new staff as part of induction
- Leaders who check that training improves practice
- Staff who feel supported and confident in their roles
- Advice and expertise brought in when needed

How can you be involved?

- Share ideas about what training might help staff support your child
- Ask how staff are developing their SEND knowledge
- Give feedback about what is working well
- Ask how specialist advice is being used in school
